“One of my main reasons for coming to Schreiner was so I could compete with the Schreiner shooting team, while still getting a great education. The environment at Schreiner is very laid back and full of kind, supportive people. That was the deal maker for me and that is why I enjoy it here at Schreiner University.” ~ Megan

Megan Greco is from Helotes, Texas and was a freshman transfer to Schreiner from Northwest Vista College in San Antonio. She is majoring in exercise science and considering a career in physical therapy. She is one of the newest members of the Schreiner Shooting Sports Society.

“I fell in love with Schreiner,” said Tyrie, a Cibolo, Texas native, who plans to teach and coach. “Admissions helped me a lot, my tour guides were great. Everyone seemed to really care. You don’t get that from other colleges.”

“My professors are good that way, too. If I don’t understand something, they’re in their offices to help. And it’s not just them; there are the peer mentors, too. I don’t see how you can NOT succeed at Schreiner.”

~ Tyrie

Schreiner senior Tyrie Prince is a math major who transferred here from Bethel College in North Newton, Kansas. He is a shooting guard on the Schreiner varsity basketball team and a member of the Fellowship of Christian Athletes. He heard about Schreiner from a friend, who not only talked up the school, but also talked to Coach Drew Miller about Tyrie.
Schreiner is Focused on Student Success

Schreiner’s classes are small—few have more than 20 students, many are fewer than 10. Our student-faculty ratio is 13:1. More than 70 percent of our faculty have earned the highest degrees in their fields, as well as real-world experience in business, the arts and other areas. No graduate assistants teach classes at Schreiner; every class is taught by a fully qualified faculty member.

In addition to small classes, dedicated teachers, peer tutors and the Honors Program, Schreiner offers a variety of services that support academic and professional achievement.

• The Senior Capstone Project provides professional internship opportunities and guided thesis development.
• Career Services offers help with résumé writing, grant application, internships, interview skills, and written and verbal communications development.

Admission Requirements

To transfer to Schreiner, you must:

• have a cumulative GPA of 2.0 or better from an accredited 2- or 4-year school.
• be eligible to re-enroll at the last school you attended.
• provide a high school transcript and ACT/SAT scores if you have less than 15 hours of transfer credit.

Applicants who fall outside these guidelines will be considered on an individual basis. For more information and to apply online, go to www.schreiner.edu/admission.

Application Process

Once you’ve decided that your next move should be to Schreiner University, transferring is easy.

• Fall transfer application deadline is August 1; however, you should apply by May 1 to guarantee maximum opportunities for scholarships, housing, financial aid and class selection.
• Spring transfer application deadline is December 1.
• Summer term transfer application deadline is May 1.

Transfer of Credits

Courses are transferable if they are substantially the same in content and quality as the equivalent Schreiner courses. Credit for courses completed in the U.S. military are transferable if they meet the DANTES requirements.

Financial Aid

If you can demonstrate past academic achievement, you will find that Schreiner offers competitive merit-based scholarship awards ranging from $4,000 to $8,000 per year. In addition, transfer students are encouraged to apply for need-based assistance. More than 85 percent of undergraduates received some form of financial aid for the 2011-2012 academic year. Once we have received all required documents, we will send you prompt notification of an admission decision.
